Presidents Message

As discussed in last month’s Lodestar issue, the process of converting all of the SFMS hard copy information into a format that can be posted to the SFMS website is making excellent progress. If you would like to see what’s being converted then view the list of directories, guidelines, handbooks, etc. posted in the Supplies section of the SFMS website. The Supplies Chair only has hard supplies such as patches and pins available. If you have any information in paper form that you believe should be part of the conversion, then mail it to the address listed below:

SFMS Digital Conversion Project
C/O Jennah Bowman
7817 Signal Station Road
Knoxville, TN, 37920

If you want the paper copy returned, after conversion, then be sure and let Jennah know. If you have something in digital form that you want added, then send it to: ajm040910@att.net

I would encourage everyone to visit the Workshops website and sign up for a class soon. I’ve heard that some of the classes have already got several students. This is a good sign that enrollment is picking up. I hope to see many of you there.

I have received notice from a couple of folks, which have held SFMS positions for several years, that they are ready to relinquish those duties. If I contact you about assuming a position within the SFMS please seriously consider it.
I have heard from many clubs that they are also having problems finding people to fill positions within their club. Many clubs have experienced having the same people filling the executive positions over and over again. I realize that holding an executive position takes up a lot of time and is not as much fun as a field trip, but the work has to be done. New blood in any positions can revitalize a club. When asked to consider taking a position within your local club, or the SFMS, please consider stepping up to the plate for the good of your club and the association.

I’ll bet the recent news about the meteorite fall in Russia has all the meteorite collectors a-buzz. I know I’ve read a lot about it and have seen at least a half dozen amateur videos of the fireball. A meteorite fell in Chicago a few years ago, but did very little damage. However, preliminary reports say this meteorite fell in the city of Chelyabinsk and did quite a bit of physical damage to homes and businesses. Mostly from the sonic booms generated during entry. I’m curious to see whether this event generates governmental attention about the potential for global impact from a megasize meteorite.

And last but not least, let’s help our new Lodestar editor by submitting articles for publication. I know there are many of you out there that have tons of info worthy of sharing. So, let’s get it to John (sfms.lodestar@gmail.com) so others can enjoy it.

Thanks!
Danny Griffin

Safety

Greetings, all, I hope all had a good holiday season and a good January. I went to sleep on the job in January and unlike one of the spring announcing groundhogs, I have seen my shadow.

This month I want to readdress a subject that all of you clearly understand; eye safety. First, I lost an eye in 1952. Since then I have been at a bit of a disability. Depth perception was an issue and still is. That is why for many lapidary activities I want to get close to the subject. I also suffer from nearsightedness and as such have a tendency not to wear my glasses for readings and working on the computer. Now, it is intuitive that when soldering, you must wear eye protection. Hot solder is not nice, no matter where it strikes and the torch is extremely unforgiving.

However, I am a cabber and you might think that this is OK to be a bit remiss with the safety goggles or glasses, well, I was extremely lucky in a couple of aspects, when early on, while working a piece of agate, a small sliver impacted my face just between my good eye and my nose. That was a bit of a wake-up call. That even doing the seemingly “safe” activity of cabbing, you need to be aware that tiny piece of your work-piece can become a hazard. This was several years ago and as with any activity that you do, being a bit negligent on the safety aspect of your work can creep in.

About three months ago, for whatever reason, I had a bit of a trouble seeing the work-piece and put my normal glasses on to see the piece of Australian Dendritic Opal that I was about to work on, so like I should be doing all the time, I put on my glasses. Now, Opal is a marvelous and delicate stone with many attributes of beauty. However, this particular opal had several cracks around the edge. As I was developing the girdle, a small piece of the opal ejected and stuck my glasses protecting my good eye.

So, no matter how safe you think your activity may be, remember to protect your eyes. Wear appropriate goggles and be sure your glasses are impact resistant and shatter-proof. Until next month, be safe and enjoy your February, spring is just around the corner and more hazards are present.

Memorial – Bill Hawkins

NMGMS member Bill Hawkins passed away on January 8, 2013 after battling cancer for the last six months. Bill was one of the members present on March 17, 2001 when the North Mississippi Gem and Mineral Society was founded. Over the years, he has served our organization in many capacities; always there, always willing to help out where ever needed. Bill was a friend to all and took an interest in what other club members were doing, whether it was a fossil collection, an interesting rock or a lapidary project. Bill and Floy shared their love of rocks and minerals with the area scouts and schools and were known in the community as the "rock talk people". Bill also served along with Floy, as the Mississippi State Director to the Southeast Federation of Mineralogical Societies for several years. They both attended meetings and shows of other Mississippi clubs, as well as those of both the regional and national federations. Bill took several classes at the William Holland Lapidary School and took up faceting. He was a retired biology professor and an avid bird watcher. NMGMS will miss Bill Hawkins very much.

SFMS WORKSHOPS UPDATE
Roy Deere, Education Committee Chair

The SFMS Workshops 2013 website is now operational. Visit SFMSworkshops.com to view the website.
You will find details of each class, instructor bios, project pictures for the classes, location info, and a new registration sheet that can be filled out on the website and printed to send in with your deposit. We have the same information on the one printed here; but you have to fill it out by hand. We certainly don’t mind that if you are in a hurry to register for your class.
The registrars have already received several registrations. I encourage you to sign up as soon as possible before the classes that you are interested in fill up.
For the ones of you, who have never attended a SFMS Workshop, let me point out some reasons why they are fun, educational, and an excellent value:
① This is a unique opportunity to spend a week with a large group of other people who are excited about rocks, metals, and jewelry.
② Both locations for the workshops are located in the mountains with beautiful scenery and quiet surroundings.
The workshops feature a week of concentration on a specific jewelry making topic. During this week you will make many new items and many new friends.

The instructors are accomplished artisans who are also experienced teachers. They will expose you to many new ideas and techniques.

Evening programs offer other educational opportunities, fun events, and our famous auctions which are always loaded with great values.

The $350 price covers lodging, meals, and instruction (materials purchased from instructors are extra). If you simply look at this as a vacation, you would spend at least that much on a hotel for the week and not get food and instruction. Also compare this to some of the national bead shows and other educational programs which charge that much for a ½ day class (no lodging or food here).

For the ones of you who have attended SFMS workshops before, welcome back. We have an exciting group of classes for you this year and are looking forward to seeing you again. I encourage you to mark the workshop dates on your calendars and plan on joining us for a wonderful jewelry vacation at our enjoyable locations. See you there later this year.
